Progress Update - Remediation works

Remediation works at the former Newcastle Clyde Street Gasworks site, located adjacent Clyde Street and Chatham Road, Hamilton North commenced in September 2019, following the receipt of the Project Development Consent from the Department of Planning, Industry and Environment on 18 July 2019.

The Newcastle Gas Company (former owner of the site, which is now owned by Jemena) operated the site as a gasworks from 1913 to 1985, and the soil and groundwater at the site was contaminated over the lifespan of 72 years as a Gasworks.

The duration of Remediation works is expected to take approximately 10 months (weather and site conditions dependant). The work will be undertaken in phases and Jemena will notify you of these works on a regular basis. If you would prefer to receive email updates, please register at <https://haveyoursay.jemena.com.au>.

Following Site Mobilisation being completed over the month of September, the works will continue with the next phase involving:

- Relocation of stockpiles, including onsite encapsulation of asbestos materials. This activity will comply with all regulatory requirements, using stringent environmental controls by Jemena's experienced and licensed contractor
- Demolition, crushing and screening of building rubble and former slabs remaining on the site (including bricks, pieces of concrete, tiles etc)
- General earthworks in preparation for the installation of the subterranean barrier wall.

During the coming months, a number of oversized items of construction equipment will be transported to the site outside of construction work hours (to comply with road safety guidelines).

You may notice an increase in noise, truck and vehicle movements during this work, however, every effort will be made to minimise the impact of the work on the community.

Heritage buildings/structures will remain and will be protected during the works.

Thank you for your patience and understanding during this important remediation project.
